

PSM is a German Manufacturing Company, founded in 1994 to serve the demand for radio control option parts and accessories. Ever since, PSM has been a contracted manufacturer for several companies within the radio control hobby industry and has worked with almost all small or big brands. PSM has always build on honesty and outstanding quality, this might be a reason why PSM has become one of the most respected manufacturers within the industry. Today the company is still owned by Peter Scheuenpflug and backed by 20+ years expertise and the love for details and quality, PSM designs and research a variety of products every single day to make sure customers will receive the quality product they deserve.
